ENAV GROUP ACQUIRES A NEW CUSTOMER CONTRACT SIGNED WITH MALDIVES AIRPORT COMPANY

Rome, October 11, 2022– ENAV Group, through the subsidiary IDS AirNav, a leading global company in aviation information management systems, was awarded a contract with Maldives Airport Company (MACL) thus added to customer's portfolio.

The contract worth approximately $500,000 and foreseen to provide for the supply, installation, and operational management of the Aviation Message Management System (AMHS) at Velana International Airport in Malé. It is the main airport of the Maldivian archipelago over which 4.3 million passengers and 64 thousand flights annually transit. It has a "Seaplane" terminal in addition to terminals for international and local flights.

The AMHS is the next-generation technology platform for the sharing of aeronautical information among all stakeholders involved in flight operations: air navigation service providers, airport operators, army, and meteorological information providers.

Maldives Airports Company thereby has been added to the client's portfolio, 130 worldwide, to whom ENAV Group provides its know-how and technologies, which range from the supply and installation of technology platforms as well as consultancy and training in aviation.
